Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Barre testimony.

Mrs. William Rock, 17 Farewell street, says: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I found them an excellent remedy. I used them when I was troubled by dull pains in the small of my back. I had frequent dizzy spells, when everything turned black in front of me and I felt faint and weak. Two boxes of Doan's, which I got at the Red Cross Pharmacy, brought satisfactory relief."

Before leaving the home farm where they had lived for 47 years, the family of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Morse gathered with them and had one happy reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Morse have sold their farm to their son, Frank Morse, and have bought the Cassius Gibbs house at Colbyville. Beside this son, they have two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Barrows of Stowe and Mrs. Luther Graves of this town. These, with their families, make a gathering of 25. Mr. Morse is one of our prosperous farmers and all are glad that he will remain in town and that the farm remains in the family.

The Demeritt company began the packing of sweet corn yesterday at their factory, the outlook for a good pack looking favorable. The raise in the price per basket for husking gives many a chance for picking up some money and aids in the work for the soldiers, as part of the pack goes to the government. The branch factory at Randolph opens next week, a number from here going to assist in the work there. Roy W. Demeritt went this week to prepare for the season's work. He was accompanied by his wife, who will assist in the office, and Master Beverly Demeritt.

Occupants of the Ward car, who were going that day, had the call for help and after aiding them brought them back to the village.

PLAINFIELD

Miss Beatrice Kellogg the Bride of Burton A. Porter.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Kellogg on Wednesday evening, Sept. 4, his daughter, Beatrice Bartlett, was married to Burton A. Porter of Wheelock, by Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt, using the double ring service. Mr. Porter was attended by his brother-in-law, Neal B. Chapin, and the bride by her long-time friend, Alice Hudson. Another friend, Mrs. Raymond Martin of Barre, played the Mendelssohn wedding march while the party, led by little sister Arline Porter as ring-bearer, took their places beneath an ivy covered arch, having decorations of ferns, autumn foliage and flags in the bay window as a background.

The wedding gown of white charmeuse was beautifully simple and the veil was fastened with white sweet peas. The gold beads of her great-grandmother were the bride's only ornament. Pink and white sweet peas and maiden hair ferns made a lovely bouquet. The bride's maid was in old rose and carried white sweet peas. Hydrangeas and golden glow were used in the other rooms to carry out the color scheme of white and gold.

Only the nearest relatives of the two families were invited. After the congratulations, three of Beatrice's cousins, Alice, Janice and Leland Bartlett, served delicious ice cream, cake and grapes. The wedding cake was made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Bartlett.

The guests from out of town were the groom's people from Wheelock, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Porter, little Arline and Mrs. Florence St. Pierre; Mr. and Mrs. Neal B. Chapin of Stowe.

The wedding journey as planned was to include Boston and Washington, and a voyage down the Potomac. Mr. Porter has served the government as parole officer in the Northwest, his headquarters being in Idaho. He has been working near the eastern coast this summer but expects to be sent to Nebraska before winter. Mrs. Porter has been a successful school teacher, having been trained in Johnson State Normal school. She will continue her work in East Burke for a while before they can make a home in the West. She has always been a faithful attendant in her home church and her fine voice has been a greatly appreciated addition to the choir. Many friends join in all good wishes for these young people.

A few weeks ago the young ladies showered Miss Beatrice with useful articles. A table of silverware, glass and linen showed that others have remembered her in like manner. She was showered again with rice when making a dash for the automobile in which they finally escaped.

RANDOLPH

Three night schools are now in operation for the training of drafted men. A school in forging has been organized at V. S. A. at the Center, with Supt. G. W. Patterson as head of the school and Ernest A. McIntosh as instructor. The class in forging will be at S. A. Those interested should communicate with Principal Stevenson, or Ernest McIntosh at Allen's garage or Supt. Patterson. Students of 18 to 45 years of age may be enrolled in any course. Students may report at school and there be enrolled. The interest in this work increases.

The town schools opened Tuesday with a full enrollment in most of the schools. The school work began successfully owing to the efficient corps of teachers. While it has been very difficult to get enough teachers to fill the schools, the force is up to the standard. Nearly all are trained teachers and nearly all have taken summer school work to improve their teaching. Brookfield high school, taught by Miss Vernice Lovett of Middlebury college, will have the usual number of pupils. Miss Lovett has taken post graduate work, and has also had several years of experience in rural high school work.

NOW IS THE

TIME TO REGAIN YOUR STRENGTH

Nervous, Tired, Low-Spirited People Should Read What This Springfield Woman Says.

If you have lost weight during the trying weather of the past summer, now is the time to regain your health and strength before the shut-in days of winter make recovery more difficult.

Many things contribute to a decline in health. Worry is one of them. Most nervous people worry. The remedy is a tonic that will nourish the nerves. Very often marked debility follows an acute disease.

The effects of an acute attack of the form of influenza commonly called the grip are shown in the case of Mrs. E. E. Fetzer of No. 39 State street, Springfield, Mass., who suffered for two years from nervousness before she found a remedy that restored her health and strength. Mrs. Fetzer says:

"I had a severe attack of the grip and after I thought I had recovered, my nerves gave out. I tried different medicines, but my condition grew worse. I was nervous and all tired out and was low-spirited all the time. My nerves seemed to have all gone to pieces. Any little noise or excitement, even children playing, would set my nerves on edge. My sleep was not refreshing, and I was tired continually."

"As a result of an advertisement in the paper, I gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I have seen a great improvement. After the first box there was a change for the better. I took three boxes in all. I feel better, my nerves are quiet and I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a specific for thin blood, and any illness caused by a lack of blood will be benefited by a course of treatment with these tonic pills. They contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitation, color returns to cheeks and lips.

Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest. If you do not know exactly what rules to follow in these matters write to-day to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for booklets on the blood and diet. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Adv.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING

As Others See Us

The following editorial in the Boston Record of last Friday states the situation just as it is. The last paragraph was printed in The Record in heavy type, as it is here.

"Wake Up Vermont"

"Vermont has been receiving bad advertising through the publicity given the plight of its present Governor 'Honest Horace' Graham, who is alleged to have been short about $19,000 in his accounts as State Auditor. A sub-committee of the Republican State Committee asked him to resign. He is reported to have agreed to do so not later than Aug. 20. At last accounts he had not kept that promise.

"This scandal, breaking on the eve of choice of another governor, gives to this contest more than ordinary interest in Vermont politics—and politics in Vermont is sizzling always. As our near neighbor, and as the home state of many Massachusetts folk, Vermont interests us, and here in the old Bay State we want to see Vermont wake up and insure itself the best possible administration of its state affairs, to wipe out the stain put on it by the Graham mess.

"There are three candidates for the governorship. Let's look them over:

"1—Frank E. Howe. He is editor of the Bennington Banner. Before the United States entered the war his editorials showed him to be a pacifist and apologist for Germany. Since he went into the war he has been 'right.' He has a son in the service. He is the most radical of the candidates.

"2—Percival W. Clement. He is a hardy perennial political figure. He has been defeated twice for the office he now seeks. His two unsuccessful campaigns were marked by financial enthusiasm. He formerly was prominent in the Rutland railroad, and he is a banker.

"3—Judge Charles H. Darling. He lives in Burlington. He was Assistant Secretary of the Navy under President Roosevelt, 1901-05. He is not much of a practical politician. He headed the Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives in his state.

"Mr. Howe is temperamentally unfit for the governorship of a New England state in war times. However 'right' he may be now, his record just preceding the war argues him to be inept in judgment and unable to see the truth until it hits him in the face. Vermont needs a governor with better vision.

"Mr. Clement is identified with Vermont politics of the most practical sort. He is a left-over from political conditions swept into limbo by the resurrection of the nation's soul. He is an able man, but his abilities are not those which the state of Vermont needs at this crisis.

"Judge Darling is nearer statesmanship than either of his opponents. He is precisely the man that Vermont needs to clean house—to erase the smudge on the state's record placed there by Gov. Graham.
